

The CourseMentor website provides various services such as,

- Career Consultancy
- Student Visa Services
- University Admissions
- Permanent Residence Guidance
- Tourist / Visitor Visa

Contact US for support:

@<https://coursementor.com/contact-us>

Well, we are connected to the top universities in USA, Canada, UK, Australia and so on. We assure you to get the Visa approval for the country you apply.

Furthermore, we provides the admissions in universities of USA, Canada, UK, Australia and other countries. Moreover, we also provides the PR services. In addition, we also provides the Tourist / Visitor Visa and other services as well.

All rights reserved with the author. It is illegal to share this ebook in public (social media websites or online messaging platforms), anyone found doing so might face legal consequences.

List of Cue cards

1. Describe an advertisement that you don't like
2. Describe a person who inspired you to do something interesting
3. Describe a website which helped you to do something
4. Describe a piece of good news you heard from others
5. Describe something you taught to someone (friend, relative, or family member)
6. Describe a place where you would like to work or live for a short time-period
7. Talk about an interesting old person you met recently
8. Describe a piece of technology that you find difficult to use
9. Describe a period of history you want to know more about
10. Describe an unusual meal that you had
11. Describe an achievement/success you are proud of
12. Talk about a time you complained about something and got a good result at last

List of Cue cards

13. Describe when you get something from someone that you really wanted
14. Describe a development in your area or hometown
15. Describe a time when you had to lend something to a person you know
16. Describe a person you met first time and enjoyed a conversation with
17. Describe a part or room in your home where you feel relaxed
18. Describe a time when you enjoyed your spare time
19. Describe a course or study that you want to do in future
20. Describe a character from a movie
21. Describe an English lesson or class you enjoyed a lot
22. Describe a hard thing you did and succeeded
23. Describe something (painting, sculpture, jewellery, furniture) you find beautiful
24. Describe an important thing you learned, not at school or college

List of Cue cards

25. Describe something that surprised you and made you happy
26. Describe a person who likes to grow plants.
27. Describe a time you were very busy
28. Describe a time when you were stuck in a traffic jam
29. Describe a positive change in your life
30. Talk about a friend you love to talk with
31. Describe a competition you would like to take part in
32. Describe something that saves your time
33. Describe a creative person whose work you admire
34. Describe something that got broken in your house and then repaired
35. Describe something important that you lost
36. Describe an occasion when you got positive feedback for work that you did
37. Talk about an important event you celebrated
38. Describe an invention that has changed how people live
39. Describe a time when you observed the stars
40. Describe a person with whom you would like to study or work

Describe an advertisement that you don't like

- When did you see it?
  - What is it about?
  - Where did you see it?
  - Why didn't you like it?
- The secret to growing a business is advertising, but it also has negative aspects.
  - Some commercials affect the things we purchase, even though they are useless and deceptive.
  - Sometimes well-known personalities will support unimportant products.
  - Some adverts draw viewers' attention with their delicate subject.
  - I'm going to talk about an advertisement that I strongly dislike.
  - It is a cold drink advertisement.
  - I recently saw this advertisement while watching a well-known awards event.
  - This advertisement promotes a cold drink, and a well-known celebrity in my nation is promoting it.

- The celebrity claims that drinking this cold drink would make people look bold.
- The content of this advertisement is unreal and persuades people to consume these unhealthy drinks.
- Some action scenes are filmed with a celebrity landing with a cool drink while flying in a helicopter, which is absurd.
- Children who copy or take anything in this advertising too seriously will suffer the consequences.
- I watched a famous television show when this advertisement aired and was continuously broadcast throughout the entire program.
- I observed this and informed my family members that this advertisement is unsuitable for young children who view this celebrity as a role model.
- This advertising did not appeal to me because it promoted an unhealthy drink with scary and unrealistic content.
- Watching or being exposed to such advertisements can harm young people.

Follow-Up Questions:

Q1. Why do some people find ads to be so offensive?

People find it annoying when advertisements interrupt programs, and some of them include sensitive material. Some people dislike commercials because the content is never realistic.

Q2. Do consumers usually purchase items after seeing advertisements?

No, they don't purchase after seeing an advertisement, albeit they are urged to do so. Everyone remembers the commercial when they want the product and feels connected, influencing people's purchasing decisions to some extent.

Q3. Is music helpful for branding?

Certainly, some advertisements have amazing content and are extremely entertaining. Music is a critical element of advertisements because it helps the content stand out and makes the audience more comfortable.

Q 4. What are the benefits of Tv ads? Analyze internet advertising.

There is a major difference between internet advertisements, which consumers may skip, and television advertisements, which are far longer in duration. Television commercials, however, cannot be skipped.

Q5. Where do we typically view advertisements?

Newspapers, flyers, television, the internet, movies, and social media are just a few places we see advertisements. Where the audience is there, advertisements are everywhere.

Describe a time when you observed the stars

- When do you observe the stars?
  - Where and with whom do you go with?
  - What do you observe?
  - Explain how you felt when you saw the stars.
-
- Everyone wants to gaze up at the sky with unaided eyes and imagine beautiful patterns.
  - People hope to feel happier and less stressed by engaging in these activities.
  - In this article, I'd like to share an experience of mine where I gazed up at the sky at night and felt overwhelmed by the atmosphere.
  - I still clearly recall my decision to travel the approximately 500 km to my grandmother's home in Yamunanagar, Haryana, when I received my summer break from college.

- To visit my relative, I was too pleased. It was a four-day journey, and my mother supported my plan when we arrived.
- The weather was too hot and scratchy, owing to a power cut, and my entire family decided to sleep on the roof of the house because I was too joyful.
- We all tried to get some shut-eye at the top, but when I glanced up and saw the sky, my imagination began to wander to you.
- It was also nighttime, and my surroundings were breathtaking. My cousin was left to choose my bedding, so we began our Skype talk.
- My cousin spoke to me and provided detailed information about the Milky Way because I was interested in learning more about the sky.
- The starlight also reminded me of a flaming torch, and I was too girly to know anything about galaxies.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. why do individuals enjoy observing the sky?

Well, there are many things that people enjoy learning about the sky because many of them are interested in learning about the solar system's or Galaxy's history and also enjoy unravelling mysteries involving the light that comes from the sky. Because of this, many researchers also devote their lives to discovering hints about the stars and discovering alternative planets.

Q2. Do you have any tales about planets?

I do have some knowledge of tales regarding planets. In addition, my parents gave me a great deal of creativity when I was a child. I spent a lot of time searching the internet for stories about the sky and earth after recognizing as I got older that stories had significance in reality. Our solar system is the subject, and the enigma surrounding it is still unsolved in the modern world.

Q3. Do you believe that telling children stories about planets would help them become better people?

Even though their minds are still developing, children who enjoy being told stories for their imaginations can learn facts about our solar system. As a result, it is important to consider this and educate children about the solar system so they can interact with one another and improve their living conditions in the future.

Q 4: Are you interested in watching movies on planets?

There are many advantages to viewing the sky with the naked eye. First, kids can quickly lower their stress levels, feel at ease, and build imaginative relationships to interact and correct the image of stars. Children gain these advantages when they look at the sky since they may easily build their mental and innovative skills when they create patterns with their presence of mind.

Q5. Would you be interested in watching movies on planets?

Even though it's my favourite topic, I enjoy watching movies about our planet. There are several reasons I usually watch Hollywood productions featuring planets. Still, the main one is that I am extremely interested in learning about the solar system's planetary infrastructure. Even books mention the millions and trillions of stars in the Galaxy, so whenever I identify any movie, an image constantly emerges, which is why I enjoy films set on planets.

Describe an invention that has changed how people live

- What invention is it?
  - Whether it is more important for older or younger people?
  - What benefits has it brought?
-
- Since the beginning of recorded history, humans have created many inventions to improve their quality of life.
  - Today, I'd like to discuss one such innovation that has essentially transformed how we live and work.
  - This technology is known as "computers," which has perhaps been regarded as the most successful and life-changing invention in the previous 40 years due to its ability to solve various daily problems.
  - Nowadays, there is barely any work, industry, or office where computers are not employed.

- It can perform complex mathematical calculations in a split second, solve vast amounts of data and information stored in a little piece of technology, and enable the worldwide connection.
- We can complete complicated jobs at work in a matter of minutes rather than having to wait a week due to the use of computers.
- Additionally, manufacturing businesses may produce hundreds of automobiles in a single day, a task that would have taken years without computers and automated systems.
- Not to mention the enormous value it has provided in discovering several discoveries in space and other worlds.
- Therefore, computers have many disadvantages, whether we are using a computer for simple internet browsing or trying to determine the rotational speed of a new planet in a new solar system. ]
- By the way, the best thing about this computer is that everyone uses it and benefits from it in some manner, regardless of age or affiliation with a certain profession.

- Computers have improved our lives by making us more productive at home, work, and the office and providing great mental relief.
- Additionally, it has enabled us to find new things that will benefit humanity in various ways.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. How has technology made life easier for us?

Well, technology has greatly facilitated our lives. Because of technology, individuals can now travel internationally by plane and communicate with people anywhere in the world.

Q2. which invention is the most useful at home?

Since people work nonstop and frequently struggle to prepare meals, I believe inventions connected to kitchen appliances are more useful. So it is now quite simple for them to cook meals in huge amounts thanks to a mixer grinder and blader choppers. Grass cutters and other household appliances like vacuum cleaners have proven more practical.

Q3. Is it more challenging for older people to adopt new technologies?

Yes, it can sometimes be challenging for older people to use technology. Older individuals don't typically use technology. They prefer to work independently rather than rely on machines, and since operating machines might be difficult for them at times due to the time commitment, they can quickly complete tasks with their own two hands.

Q4. What can be done to make it easier for old folks to learn how to use modern technologies?

By mentally preparing them for use, older folks can be assisted in using modern technology. They can be given instructions on how to use technology easily, and the smaller computer-based activities can be delegated to them so they can do them independently. In this way, they can develop good technology usage habits. The activities include sending emails and texts and making online payments.

Q5. Will a life without technology be better for us?

If we desire a quiet existence, it will be simpler to do without technology. However, if we desire more amenities, it will be difficult to survive in this environment because people are now too lazy to move as much. They require transportation in addition to communication tools since they can only function by speaking to others.

Talk about a significant event you celebrated

- What was it?
  - Where did you celebrate?
  - Who was with you?
  - Why was It special?
-
- Celebrating to make memories is necessary since we all want to be reminded of the good times.
  - This strengthens the bonds between family members. Students, family members, and coworkers actively participate in organizing these activities.
  - Birthday celebrations, anniversaries, academic and extracurricular accomplishments, and others are always recognized.
  - I'll discuss the anniversary of my parent's marriage here.
  - My brother and I prepared a lovely celebration because it was my parents' wedding anniversary and I wanted to make it a special occasion.

- It was my parents' thirty-fifth wedding anniversary, so we invited all our family members and close friends to be a part of this beautiful occasion and throw them a surprise party.
- We reserved a hotel in our community, chose the meal menu, and decorated the celebration hall.
- This hotel's infrastructure, amenities, and facilities are the best.
- All of our cousins and relatives attended our celebration, and they helped me plan such a lovely gathering.
- My cousins and younger brother made all the appointments and reservations required to make this celebration magnificent.
- It was special simply because it was our chance to offer my parents the feeling they give us so frequently. My parents have always honoured our accomplishments and birthdays.
- I arranged this event because I am close to my parents and wanted to give them lasting memories.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. How do people in your nation celebrate special occasions?

People in my country take part in all celebrations and festivals joyfully and traditionally, adhering to all norms and traditions. The community comes together when they commemorate holidays, patriotic days, and significant national events. It prepares for all the festivals, where the community greets one another and celebrates festivals in the nation. India is a diverse nation; all religions can observe their festivals and coexist peacefully.

Q2. What occasions are popular among Indians to commemorate?

Indians have great excitement and pleasure in celebrating holidays like Diwali, Holi, and Navratri. For everyone to celebrate this celebration in magnificent style, it is crucial to preserve the culture. Each state and region has its festivals, which are observed lavishly.

Q3. Why, in your opinion, is it vital to celebrate?

The importance of celebrations for developing community and local ties cannot be overstated. People get together and become one by commemorating various occasions and festivals. Since this fosters togetherness, the community greatly benefits from celebrating various occasions.

Q4. Are big or small celebrations more your style?

I enjoy both large and small celebrations. When a family event occurs, it is a grand celebration, but when a birthday or a minor achievement occurs, we celebrate within the family. When a special occasion or festival occurs, everyone gathers to celebrate as a big event; otherwise, small occasions are celebrated every day.

Q5. Why do some people enjoy lavish parties and large gatherings?

People enjoy planning expensive lavish festivities because they want to display their good fortune and wealth to others and invite them to share in the major achievements in their lives. They prefer to include everyone in their events, including neighbours, family members, and friends. Therefore, they prepare dinners and lunches on various occasions to celebrate big occasions. In Indian culture, weddings are exceptionally pricey and lavishly celebrated.

Describe an occasion when you got positive feedback for work that you did

- What did you do?
  - When was it?
  - Why do you get positive feedback?
  - How did you feel about it?
-
- People enjoy receiving a variety of input in their daily lives. Depending on the circumstances and the calibre of the job, some are either good or negative.
  - We also value positive feedback when we perform well since it is a natural aspect of life.
  - Many individuals like to express their appreciation for our work, and in this article, I'd like to discuss the feedback I received from my parents.
  - I well recall the moment I received my college summer break when I had a lot of free time and was unsure how to spend it with myself.

- My father suggested I try something new that I had never done before because it was also a challenging period for me.
- Apart from that, I contemplated doing something else for one to two days before deciding to clean the park in front of my house.
- My father advised that after you finish that task with a machine, you should surely award something you should like because the park had heavy grass that the scissors could not cut due to connectivity.
- When I saw that condition, for it was quite heavy and large, I couldn't push on because the machine needed a lot of force.
- But it took about four to five hours. I exhaled a breath of satisfaction once I had finished the one segment. I completed the task in the evening because there was one more segment.
- Additionally, I finished that segment in three hours thanks to some simple strategies I used to operate the machine properly.

- In addition, my father was happy to see the park's atmosphere with his own eyes after arriving home from work.
- He also valued all the compliments he received. In addition, a family member provided me with some encouraging input, which I embraced immediately, which helped me feel more confident.
- So when my father gave me his opinion after I finished the assignment, I was ecstatic.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Do you enjoy assisting others?

Yes, I enjoy helping others. As a child, I did not give it much attention, but more recently, when I visited the orphanage, I assisted others, as I have done frequently.

Q2. Should kids be taught to serve others, in your opinion?

Education regarding providing social assistance to the poor should be taught to children. They need to be shown how these people are made and what sort of support they can provide in the future when they are in a good position by taking them to an orphanage.

Q3. How can we inspire kids to lend a hand to others?

Whenever we encounter older adults, we can lend kids a pencil so they can use it in class for people who can't afford it. We can now request that they contribute some of their pocket money.

Q4. Do you believe that individuals nowadays are less willing to assist others than they were in the past?

It's not true that individuals cannot assist others because they lack financial security. But in today's privileged and wealthy society, numerous NGOs fund orphanages. With the internet's aid, many people donate money online.

Q5. Do people nowadays still have as much faith in one another as they once did?

People used to have confidence in one another yesterday, but they no longer do.

Describe something important that you lost

- What was it?
  - How you lost it?
  - Why was it important to you?
  - How did you feel when you lost it?
-
- Everybody experiences some loss in life.
  - I need to find a lot of things.
  - I want to talk about something significant that I lost last year here.
  - It was my first mobile device.
  - When I finished high school, I purchased my first cell phone.
  - It belonged to Samsung.
  - It was a gift from my uncle.
  - When my uncle gave me this phone, I was overjoyed.
  - Unfortunately, I misplaced it on the bus ride from Phagwara to Jalandhar.
  - Despite the hurry, I managed to get a seat in the front row.

- I remember taking my phone out to make a call, but I don't recall whether I had put it back.
- After I sat down, I discovered my phone was gone.
- The bus' destination was Amritsar. It had thus already left.
- My heart sank when I realized that my phone was lost forever.
- I went to an Airtel support centre to file a complaint and have my sim deactivated.
- Its colour was black.
- It had a 4.3-inch touch screen and was a rectangular phone.
- A calculator, a calendar, an alarm, a light, and various games were also included.
- It has excellent battery backup.
- I had a strong sense of ownership over my Samsung phone.
- My phone is never given to anyone else.
- I connected to it using a prepaid Airtel line.
- I had to use some of my pocket money to pay for it.
- So I was quite frugal with it.
- On my phone, I used to play Tetris.

- I also sent SMS messages to my friends using the phone.
- I alternated between using the calculator and my phone's FM radio.
- The phone was quite durable.
- It had repeatedly slipped out of my hands but never broke and continued to function flawlessly.
- It has a 5-megapixel camera, which I use to snap pictures of my loved ones.
- I used it to take a lot of selfies.
- To stay in touch with my friends, I utilized a variety of apps, including Facebook and Whatsapp.
- Since my phone was a gift and a prized possession for me, I miss having it.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What kind of people is prone to losing things often?

People who lack discipline and also have poor memories frequently misplace things.

Q2. How can we avoid misplacing crucial items?

Instead of leaving items around, we should designate areas for them and always put them there to keep things ordered. Car keys, for instance, should be hung on a key holder so you never lose them.

Q3. What would you do if you found something precious on the street that wasn't yours?

I will track down the owner of anything I find that is different from mine. I'll give it to the needy if I can't use it myself.

Q4. What sort of things have you already lost?

Well, I frequently misplace things and often feel terrible about them. Once, in addition to the money, my wallet also included my identification documents. I also misplaced my lunchbox, phone, and other items.

Q5. How do you typically search for lost items?

I start by recalling where I last put the item; if I can't, I ask my parents or friends.

Describe something that got broken in your house and then repaired

- What is it?
  - How was it broken?
  - How you got it repaired?
  - And how you felt about it?
-
- We use an increasing number of technical devices daily. Therefore it's common for things to break down and need to be repaired.
  - Today, I want to talk about a vase that I recently had fixed after it sustained damage.
  - In actuality, everything happened quickly. The doorbell rang as I was in the middle of watching a movie on television.
  - I quickly grabbed the keys that were next to the vase.
  - I struck that unintentionally, and it collapsed and broke.
  - At the time, I felt awful and was afraid to tell my family.

- I decided to talk to my brother about it, and he helped me fix the vase.
- Firstly, we removed any crumbling parts from the areas to be bonded because, to fix a vase, these areas must be clean and dry.
- After that, we placed a drizzle of glue on the broken part. Then, we collect the broken parts of the jar.
- Finally, I took a deep breath after fixing the jar.
- Initially, I felt awful because my grandmother gifted me that vase on my birthday, but after repairing it seriously, I felt pleased and over the moon.
- Then, I understood that if we go the extra mile, we can tackle a hurdle with great determination.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Does society place a higher value on careers in IT?

The modern industry's backbone is IT, which is crucial to today's corporate strategy. Therefore, every company nowadays has a physical presence in the marketplace and an online presence, which is made possible by IT specialists. Customers from all around the world are attracted to these guys' stores and online platforms. They also signify the product's existence on the global market.

Q2. Is product quality now lower than it was before?

Yes, we can reply. Many features are now being added to existing items, and since pricing is affected by fierce competition, corporations are compromising durability. However, some companies keep the product's life cycle brief because they want their customers to return. This encourages consumer culture.

Q3. What kinds of objects do people enjoy doing their repairs on?

People enjoy fixing minor technological devices. Plastic or rubber can be repaired on its own if it cracks. People want things repaired by experts when they encounter significant problems.

Q4. Why do individuals prefer going to specialized shops to fix their mobile phones?

A mobile loses its original appearance and shape after being opened by a neighbourhood shop. The repairs are clear to see. Additionally, using first-copy components from the original product impacts the gadget's performance. For these reasons, many prefer to have professional stores fix their expensive electronics.

Describe a creative person whose work you admire

- Who he/she is?
  - How do you know him/her?
  - What creative things he/she has done?
  - Explain why you think he/she is creative.
-
- Although hardly everyone is gifted with creativity, I know a few individuals with exceptionally inventive and creative minds.
  - Here, I'll discuss Mr Singh, my science teacher, who I consider the most imaginative person I've ever met.
  - I am honoured to have had him as a privileged that had the good fortune to have that I had him.
  - Although the science is one of the most challenging subjects and is often tough for pupils to understand, our science teacher is brilliant and always comes up with creative ways to teach the class.

- He usually took us to science labs for practical learning because he used to place more emphasis on practical learning than academic learning.
- Additionally, book reading alone makes some physics-related topics difficult to understand. He used technology to explain these ideas to us so we could understand them.
- For instance, By displaying 3D pictures and playing videos. It was enjoyable for pupils to study, and his classroom was always exciting.
- Last but not least, he also requested that the school administration arrange field trips to keep learning enjoyable.
- Being such a brilliant individual, he often had creative suggestions for enhancing the institution.
- The credit for my positive educational experience, especially in the scientific classes, goes to Mr Singh, the science teacher.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Do you consider yourself to be creative?

I consider myself creative, but I just use it for me. I artistically combine and match my old outfits to make them look brand-new daily. I also enjoy creating various characters from my imagination and sketching them in pencil.

Q2. Is art education beneficial for kids?

Yes, teaching your kids the arts is a great idea. The arts let people express their creativity and break up the monotony of challenging academic work. Additionally, arts help kids stay connected to their culture and traditions.

Q3. Do you believe that creative skills are necessary for leaders?

Yes, innovative skills are necessary for leaders. People quit following those who lack originality because they appear monotonous, while those who inject innovation into their work, speech, and actions maintain their following.

Q4. What professions call for creative individuals?

I believe creativity is a skill that is necessary for all jobs. If people lack creativity, their work may quickly become monotonous and tedious. Any task that must be completed repeatedly must incorporate a creative component. For instance, a carpenter needs to learn new ways of doing things that can add grace to his work, a plumber needs to learn new things every day to make his work better and simpler, and a teacher needs to come up with creative teaching methods so that kids don't grow bored.

Describe something that saves your time

- What is it?
  - When do you usually do it?
  - Why do you do it?
  - Explain why you think it saves your time.
-
- Since everyone is pressed for time in today's fast-paced society, different people employ various time-saving techniques.
  - Here, I'd want to share one time-saving strategy or thing I do to manage my time more effectively.
  - I love to constantly wear new outfits, shoes, and accessories, which makes me quite a shopaholic.
  - Unfortunately, there are no reliable markets or venues to make purchases where I live.
  - To get the goods I wanted in the past, I had to take a weekend trip with friends or family to a nearby city.
  - My hometown is about 100 kilometres from the city of Ludhiana.

- As a result, my trip there used to take close to four hours, which made my shopping experience unpleasant and taxing.
- But I have started shopping online.
- My friend John introduced me to Amazon, a wonderful website where I can purchase practically anything.
- The wonderful thing about Amazon is that it has a great thing about it. It is a terrific thing about it. We can purchase locally, internationally, branded, non-branded, and locally products from the comfort of our homes.
- I no longer need to go to several locations on the weekends to shop as a result.
- The best thing about internet shopping is that if I receive a product that I don't like, I can easily exchange it.
- I can now use my weekends more productively as a result.
- Overall, this one thing has undoubtedly saved a great deal of time, and I heartily encourage anyone who finds shopping time-consuming to think about ordering anything online.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Do you think that time management is important?

Yes, time management is crucial for success in life. If someone wants to accomplish their dreams, they must first be well-organized with their time and conduct effective planning. In my opinion, time management is the process of planning and managing the amount of time spent on a particular activity. In addition, effective time management reduces stress and promotes work success by allowing one to compete for more in less time.

Q2. How do you feel? Everywhere today, technology is used. Saves time, finally?

Undoubtedly, the ability to save time and money has gotten easier with the development of technology. This is because modern technology offers a variety of features and advantages that reduce human effort and speed up work. For instance, robots replace restaurant servers because they can operate faster than people. Despite its advantages, the dependence on machinery lowers the value of human labour.

Q3. Do you believe that time management requires planning?

To effectively manage our time, planning is essential. Planning helps us determine what has to be done and when in advance. It helps close the distance between where we are now and where we want to be.

Q4. Do you believe kids should learn time management skills?

I wholeheartedly concur; time management skills should be taught very early in life. A child who learns to be independent will never be reliant on anybody else for their success. Additionally, it will help them academically, and by learning time management skills, they will learn to prioritise their studies, sports, and other activities.

Q5. How would you teach time management to your children?

To inspire them, I will reward them with gifts and outings. To teach them the skill of managing time from the very beginning, I will assign them some form of activities that they will need to finish within the time limit.

Describe a competition you would like to take part in

- What kind of competition is it?
  - What would you do in this competition?
  - Why does this competition interest you?
-
- I took part in a lot of contests when I was in school.
  - I once took part in a science fair. I was a member of a group.
  - Here, I'd want to discuss a contest in which I'd like to participate.
  - In my hometown, an annual environmental fair is held.
  - It is put on by the Rotary Club every December.
  - Numerous competitions are held, including monologue acting, poetry reciting, flower arranging, salad decorating, and more.
  - People can participate, and even higher learning institutions can send their students.
  - Last year, my friend entered a flower arrangement competition and took home the top honours.

- I, therefore, would adore participating in a painting competition, giving it my all, and hope to take home a prize.
- Only on the spot is the painting's theme revealed.
- The organizers will supply the sketching pages, but you must bring your brushes and colours.
- I've used poster paints to create a lot of paintings that I've given as gifts to friends and family.
- My friends and family know my passion for painting and drawing.
- This year's fair is something I'm looking forward to since I want to go and try my luck at winning a prize.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What kind of individuals compete?

I believe everyone has a competitive nature and enjoys comparing themselves to others.

However, other people are self-assured and like to compete more frequently. Some people are pushed into competitions by their parents or teachers even though they are unsure. Many people lose their competitive spirit because they are afraid of losing. Many people don't fully recognize their potential until they compete.

Q2. What types of sports or events do people enjoy participating in?

People enjoy competing in various competitions, including singing, dancing, painting, sports, and quizzes. It all depends on what interests people. For instance, those interested in physical fitness often compete in marathons, weightlifting, or other sports.

Q3. What types of contests are well-liked in your hometown?

In my hometown, there are lots of competitions. An annual environmental festival is held, and over two days, contests are held for various activities, including weight lifting, dancing, painting, drawing, and presenting scientific research. Additionally, dog competitions and shows are fairly frequent in my hometown.

Q4. Why, in your opinion, are there so many competition-focused TV shows today?

First of all, competition shows are popular, and most of them have strong TRP ratings. Second, because producers also profit from texting and phoning in addition to advertising, these shows are less expensive to create and more financially successful. They have higher success rates and require less planning and scripting than other shows.

Talk about a friend you love to talk with

- Who is he?
  - What do you love to talk about?
  - Why do you love to talk with him?
-
- As an extrovert, I enjoy interacting with others. Despite having a large group of friends, I cherish one in particular and look forward to our conversations the most.
  - Andrew is a close friend and neighbour of mine. Since we first met two years ago, we have become close friends.
  - He is my closest friend, and we frequently talk about problems, exercise, careers, technology, and current events.
  - He makes it easier for me to decide about important issues in my life, which is why I enjoy talking to him.
  - He shares a tonne of information with me from his vast knowledge.
  - In addition to this, he reads voraciously and incredibly quickly.

- He always shares the plot description of a new book with me.
- I've noticed a paradigm shift in my thinking because of his instruction, and my personality has grown significantly.
- He can think outside of the box. Therefore I constantly look to him for inspiration.
- In addition, he is quite knowledgeable about fitness. He oversees the physical activities I engage in.
- I've found his workout advice helpful and adhere to his nutrition advice.
- In conclusion, he possesses a wide range of attributes, and the main benefit of speaking with him is the upbeat feeling it gives me.
- I went through a tough stretch last year, but I could get through it because of his unwavering support and direction.
- I consider it a blessing to have friends like Andrew, and everyone should.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What places do young people enjoy gathering?

Young people in the modern era have a wide variety of places to meet. They initially meet to spend time together at malls, bars, discos, and movie theatres. In addition, they enjoy hanging out at playgrounds and sporting events. Gyms are where some fitness nuts congregate. Lastly, book lovers enjoy gathering at libraries and book fairs to discover fresh reading material.

Q2. What topics do young people discuss when they get together?

The most important topic for them to discuss is what is going on with their friends now. In addition, they discuss a variety of famous people, such as actors and athletes. Additionally, they discuss the newest technology and frequently provide critiques of it. They also talk about their potential romantic partners.

Q3. Do you believe that friends should always be honest with one another?

Yes, since honesty is the main foundation of friendship. We put more distance between ourselves and our friends when we discuss dishonesty. Additionally, it can occasionally end a friendship.

Q4. When do people converse with strangers?

People converse with strangers frequently to learn information, such as directions to a location. In the event of any unplanned emergency, they request rapid assistance from bystanders. In addition, they converse with strangers to kill time when riding public transportation or as they wait in line for a doctor's or lawyer's appointment.

Q5. When should one avoid speaking up?

Since verbal fights usually end quickly, it's best to avoid speaking during them to avoid disturbing the process of bringing about peace. Additionally, it is preferable to maintain a respectful silence when someone speaks loudly to us because doing so prevents the other person from taking advantage of our actions.

Describe a positive change in your life

- What was the change?
  - When did it happen?
  - How did it happen?
  - Explain why it was a positive change.
-
- We all experience several life events that alter our personalities or attitudes.
  - And this is where I'd like to talk about an event that changed me for the better.
  - When I was younger, I was extremely irresponsible, never completed tasks on time, was never timely, and frequently arrived late to school or other locations.
  -
  - I never did my assignment on time, resulting in frequent punishment.
  - Despite their best efforts, my parents' attempts to educate me on the value of time had little impact on me.
  - I recall that my 10th-class exams were about to start.

- The following day was my math exam, but I was alone at home because my parents had to travel for a family event.
- It meant I had to wake up early and prepare for school by myself.
- My habit of studying until late at night prevented me from waking up early enough to be ready for school.
- I was almost an hour late getting to school, and by the time the exam had begun, I was in a terrible panic since I had to finish the three-hour exam in just two hours.
- I couldn't do well on the exam since I was traumatized and under too much stress.
- I eventually received a failing grade when the exam results were announced.
- Although I was quite disappointed, I have learned a valuable lesson from this experience.
- I have committed to being on time since I made that pledge.
- I'll finish everything on schedule. My mother assisted me in creating a daily routine, and I also started to carry a to-do list in my pocket as a result of their assistance.

- These days, I make a point of finishing every task by the deadline.
- And by completing tasks on time, I end myself with a lot of extra time that I can use to engage in some of my favourite pastimes.
- My sister gave me a watch for my recent birthday since she knows how much I now value time and how often I check the time.
- Overall, the episode was significant in helping me change for the better.

CourseMentor™
START YOUR JOURNEY TO STUDY ABROAD

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Is your nation changing quickly?

Yes, my nation is evolving quickly. India is a developing nation that is undergoing positive change daily. It is rapidly transitioning from a developing to a developed country due to technological improvement. Although change has always occurred, technology has accelerated the process.

Q2. How has your nation changed?

My country is evolving in many ways. First of all, I can observe how globalization has affected society; more and more people are bathing in foreign shows, eating foreign foods, and wearing western clothing. Second, individuals are advancing to adopt more contemporary methods of thinking and perceiving the world. Many negative cultural practices, such as dowry, are disappearing. Finally, our infrastructure and facilities are expanding. People can now access many modern amenities, like subways and rapid internet service. The majority of the adjustments have been positive for me.

However, I think this is partly a result of my optimism and desire to look on the bright side of things. Furthermore, even though most of the changes have been favourable, some have advanced more slowly than I had hoped.

Q3. Do you think change is a positive thing?

Change can be beneficial and detrimental. It mostly depends on the change and our motivations for making it. In the end, if we are changing for the right reasons, to improve ourselves, then it is unquestionably a positive thing. It would be horrible if we were being pushed to change or pick up unhealthy habits like drinking or smoking because of pressure from others or stress.

Q4. What are some of the most significant changes that typically take place in people's lives?

Transformations happen throughout our lives. The physical and hormonal changes that accomplish puberty, such as the onset of facial hair and voice deepening, come first. The next stage is mental maturity, which develops when we encounter and deal with various challenges.

We get the ability to resolve problems and overcome obstacles.

Q5. Is it crucial for people to adjust to their surroundings?

I agree that adapting to our environment shouldn't be a problem as long as it doesn't feel like we are changing who we are. For instance, it is acceptable to experiment with foreign dishes and clothing abroad. However, if someone is a vegetarian, I wouldn't think it's okay to sample non-vegetarian food to fit in.

START YOUR JOURNEY
HERE

Describe a time when you were stuck in a traffic jam

- When and where it happened?
  - How long were you in the traffic jam?
  - What did you do while waiting?
  - And explain how you felt when you were in that traffic jam.
-
- Traffic jams are quite common, especially in large cities where people spend a lot of time in them.
  - I'm going to share an instance where I recently got caught in a jam and had to wait a long time.
  - My friend and I organized a weekend. On the weekend, we decided to visit Ludhiana and have a great time.
  - We intended to go shopping, see a movie at the theatre, eat dinner and return home afterwards.
  - We were going to take the bus, and I was enthusiastic about it.
  - The event was cancelled for some reason the following morning when I arrived at the bus stop, but I decided to go alone.

- I can still clearly recall that it was a very hot day when I boarded the non-air-conditioned bus. Even though it was jam-packed, I somehow managed to get a seat, but the ride was miserable.
- Barely 30 minutes had passed before the bus abruptly came to a stop.
- There was a significant backup of moving traffic and a massive bottleneck.
- The bus driver turned off the engine and went outside to ask. It was quite challenging to pass the time aboard this bus waiting.
- So I decided to either play a phone game or listen to music. My phone's battery died after about 15 to 20 minutes.
- We learned that the traffic block was caused by a road accident in the interim, and it might be some time before the police allow the vehicles to move.
- It was the height of my patience; I had had enough of the continual honking and the toxic emissions from other vehicles.

- I, therefore, decided to get off the bus and board another bus travelling the other way.
- After squandering four hours, I was finally back home, and I was quite irritated since a traffic delay wrecked my weekend.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Does traffic congestion frequently occur in Indian cities?

Yes, India is quite crowded, and there are often traffic jams, especially in major cities like Delhi, Bombay, Chennai, and Kolkatta. Additionally, India has a horrible reputation for parking cars on the road, which limits parking options and causes traffic jams.

Q2. Why are cities today dealing with such severe traffic problems?

Growing urbanization is the primary cause of the major traffic problems. More and more people are relocating to cities to improve their quality of life, yet this results in an increase in the number of cars on the roads. In addition, some older cities have narrow roads because they weren't planned with today's car use in mind. These congested roadways' limited width restricts traffic movement.

Q3. How can the traffic situation in cities be made better?

First, I believe that by improving public transit faster and more comfortably, the government can encourage more people to utilize it. For instance, Delhi's traffic conditions have significantly improved since the Delhi Metro's opening. Roadways must also be enlarged whenever possible to accommodate more cars.

Q4. Can improving public transportation help with urban traffic problems?

I believe public transportation can help with traffic problems if it is quick and comfortable. Local trains have been available in Delhi for a while, but because they were slow, people did not like them. However, the quick and pleasant Delhi Metro, which was just built, significantly reduced traffic.

Describe a time you were very busy

- When did it happen?
  - Where were you?
  - What did you do?
  - And explain why you were that busy.
-
- So it goes without saying that I frequently find myself rushing because I am too preoccupied with my work.
  - My mother's birthday was a few months ago. She typically went to work, but I threw her a surprise party instead.
  - I pretended to be sick when other family members left and gave the same justification for staying home.
  - But as soon as everyone had departed, I began to make preparations.
  - I started cleaning the house because I only had about 6-7 hours to prepare.
  - I invited the guests as soon as I finished cleaning the house.
  - I called friends and family, asking them to keep the information private, and asked everyone to the evening party at six o'clock.

- I only had about four to five hours, so I decided to bake my mother a cake as a birthday present.
- My mum like the flavour of the cakes I create because I am a skilled cake baker.
- The house needed to be decorated now. It took me more than two hours to decorate the house with balloons and other objects, but it looked beautiful.
- At this point, I was pressed for time since I needed to run to the market to get some decorative items, particularly balloons.
- I was beginning to feel drained. When my mother arrived home and knocked on the door, she was incredibly surprised because, by that point, all the guests had arrived, the house looked gorgeous, and everyone had started singing the birthday song.
- However, I still needed to order the food for the guests, and it was just about six o'clock.
- She expressed some amazement at how quickly I was able to handle everything.
- Overall, I can say that it was a time during which I was overly busy.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Are you frequently busy?

I am, indeed. I've been studying for the exam and am undergoing my driving licence instruction. I have a training lesson every three days. Therefore, I must be up at six to have more time to practise in the cooler morning hours. After spending three hours in the car, I'm exhausted. I do some housework after I get home and prepare breakfast and lunch. I begin working at 11 and continue until 9 at night. My work weeks are quite hectic. The weekend is when I can unwind and relax.

Q2. Why are people these days so busy?

As a result of the advancement of science and technology, nobody has any spare time. People aspire to earn a lot of money because they want to live abundant lives.

Q3. Is it beneficial for someone to be constantly busy?

True, Being busy can boost motivation and speed up task completion. Busy people are more likely to prioritize their work, make goals, and keep a schedule to be more productive.

Q4. What are the benefits and drawbacks of being busy?

Keeping ourselves occupied with something allows us to stay active and in shape, which is the most popular benefit of keeping ourselves busy. We continue to be stress-free and negative thoughts are kept at bay. Our company experiences financial growth, and we can become more inventive and productive. The most frequent drawback of remaining busy is family life disruption, which often interferes with our social lives.

Q5. How does one maintain better health and concentration during a busy schedule?

During a person's busy schedule, a break is required to stay focused and healthy. For this reason, a person needs to set aside time for exercise and take some time off to be with his family. It would undoubtedly assist him in resolving this issue.

Describe a person who likes to grow plants.

- Who is that person?
  - How do you know the person?
  - What type of plant does he/she grow?
-
- One of the most famous pastimes worldwide is gardening.
  - People are starting to recognize social media's benefits in balancing nature with its current growth in popularity.
  - Plants can assist people in overcoming their stress, anxiety, and despair.
  - People who take good care of plants are typically considered good managers of everything.
  - My sister is the only person who comes to mind when I think of someone who enjoys growing plants.
  - Nandita is her given name. She has a green thumb in our family.
  - When she transformed the rooftop area into a paradise that resembles a miniature garden, I realized that plants bring a space to life.

- My sister has worked in the backyard for hours since she was a teenager.
- She has acquired extensive knowledge of the various plant species throughout the years.
- She has raised a wide variety of plants, both flowering and non-flowering.
- We usually like consuming fresh, organic fruits and vegetables.
- She has successfully continued to keep our backyard house garden.
- She has also mastered the tree creation process and built a lush environment at home.
- As I looked up at her, I began assisting her with planting.
- Since I've improved, I have to admit that my life has changed significantly.
- Therefore, that is the individual who enjoys growing plants.
- She has raised a wide variety of plants, both flowering and non-flowering.
- We frequently prefer eating organic, fresh fruits and veggies.
- She has successfully managed to keep up with our house garden in the backyard.

- In addition, she has developed a lush environment at home and mastered the art of creating bonsai.
- As I looked up at her, I began assisting her with planting. Since I've improved, I have to admit that my life has changed significantly.
- Therefore, that is the individual who enjoys growing plants.
- She has raised a wide variety of plants, both flowering and non-flowering.
- We frequently prefer eating organic, fresh fruits and veggies. She has successfully managed to keep up with our house garden in the backyard.
- In addition, she has developed a lush environment at home and mastered the art of creating bonsai.
- As I looked up at her, I began assisting her with planting. Since I've improved, I have to admit that my life has changed significantly.
- Therefore, that is the individual who enjoys growing plants.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What species of plants do people prefer to grow indoors?

People grow a variety of valuable flowering and non-flowering plants in their houses. They enjoy growing floral plants like marigold, rose, and jasmine. In addition, some people enjoy growing therapeutic plants like basil, aloe vera, and neem. In addition, some people enjoy growing ornamental plants like bamboo plants, money plants, and numerous more.

Q2. Do Indians enjoy receiving and giving plants as gifts?

Most people do not enjoy receiving plants as gifts, so the answer is no. On World Environment Day, numerous organizations and NGOs frequently give individuals plants to grow. On the other hand, some followers of Vastu enjoy giving bamboo plants as gifts to the people they care about, and this practice is becoming more and more common.

Q3. Is it common for people to produce vegetables?

Yes, individuals have started growing some plants and vegetables at home due to the extensive use of chemicals on fruits and vegetables. People are doing it regardless of whether it's a terrace garden or a kitchen garden. In fact, due to a lack of available land, hydroponic farming is also popular nowadays.

Q4. Do you believe letting children learn how to grow plants is a good idea?

Without a doubt, yes! It is a good move. First and foremost, children will be able to comprehend how plants function and how important they are to our existence. In addition, taking care of plants is a very tranquil and pleasant hobby. A future botanist or agriculture scientist may be concealed in them, and they may turn their leisure activity into a job.

Q5. What do you think of a farmer's job, number five?

In any case, farmers are doing great things for humanity. They occasionally endure extreme weather conditions while growing food for us, sweating; they also have a lot of debt. They are genuine heroes who provide for humanity while receiving little compensation. The farmer's work has been tougher, and their situation has worsened due to the added debt and responsibility.

COURSE MENTOR
START YOUR JOURNEY TO STUDY ABROAD

Describe something that surprised you and made you happy

- What was it?
  - Who did this?
  - How you found out about it, and what did you do?
  - And explain why it surprised you and made you happy.
-
- Well, surprises are still widespread in today's world. I want to tell you about something that my older brother gave me, which made me happy.
  - Last year I was in the 12th standard.
  - To get accepted into the top university for my higher studies, I had to pass the tests with decent marks. My brother made a surprise gift promise to me if I passed the tests with flying colours.
  - I stayed up late studying for my senior school exams because I enjoy surprises. By the mercy of God, it came to pass, and I took the first position in the class.

- When I announced my result, my brother was delighted. I received a box from my brother that said, "Open me; a surprise is waiting for you."
- I found the bike's key when I opened it. In the beginning, I had no idea what that was.
- I quickly start running towards my house's backyard. Sincerely, watching a brand-new bike in front of me was like a bolt from the blue.
- I was beyond happy and felt like I was on top of the world.
- In addition to this, I was about to cry. I hugged my brother long because I hadn't expected such a wonderful surprise.
- He felt his inner self-confidence by seeing my pleasure; I was my happiness.
- He was feeling inner self-confidence by witnessing my happiness.
- He felt He taught me how to drive over the following several days, and I can now do it well.
- Overall, I was quite pleased with this surprise; it was my most exciting experience ever.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. How do people in your society express happiness?

In my culture, there are many various methods to display happiness. I believe that smiling is the most typical approach to communicating joy across all civilizations. In my culture, individuals celebrate their joy with their loved ones by throwing parties, cooking special meals, purchasing presents, etc.

Q2. Do you believe that happiness affects people in any way? How?

Happiness spreads easily. It distributes positivity and improves the moods of others around you. It provides life significance and direction. Among its many advantages are better sleep, a lower risk of heart disease, a stronger immune system, and other health advantages.

Q3. What makes people happy?

Focusing on the positive and being content with one's possessions are two ways that people can be happy. People should also constantly remind themselves that although life can be challenging, obstacles can be overcome, and circumstances can be overcome by remaining optimistic.

Another approach to being happy is to surround yourself with positive people and avoid those who try to drag you down.

Q4. Is it healthy for individuals to feel unhappy? Why?

No, being unhappy is not healthy. Our wellness greatly depends on our mental health, and despair and anxiety can result from dissatisfaction. Deep breathing and meditation can help us quiet our brains and chase the feelings away when it becomes tough to be happy.

Describe an important thing you learned, not at school or college

- When did you learn it?
  - How did you learn it?
  - Why did you think it was important to learn it?
  - How did you feel when you learned it?
-
- Learning is a process that lasts a lifetime, and as a creative person, I enjoy learning about every subject.
  - Here, I'd like to discuss something significant I've learned outside of school or college.
Cooking is a vital thing.
  - I've had a passion for cooking since I was little. I, therefore, frequently watch culinary videos on YouTube and assist my mother in the kitchen.
  - I can still clearly recall my summer vacation from two months ago.
  - I was not involved in my academics at the moment. So I've decided to develop my cooking abilities.

- My mum has a natural talent for cooking. She is skilled in cooking Indian, Chinese, and Italian food.
- According to my mum, the most crucial aspect of cooking is baking. I, therefore, began learning to bake before I learned to make Indian food.
- Considering that eating is a basic human need, I believe that cooking is essential to everyone's life.
- Moreover, I want to go abroad for my higher education.
- Additionally, I watched a few cooking programs on YouTube, which was quite helpful.
- I felt ecstatic after learning every detail of cooking in a month. I can now make a variety of dishes, which would be extremely tasty.
- It is the crucial lesson I've taken away from my house and social media.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What do kids learn from their parents?

Children's first teachers are their parents. Their parents teach them a lot of things. Even the most fundamental skills—how to eat, talk, dress, and behave—are taught to children by their parents. In actuality, parents teach their children through everything they do in front of them.

Q2. Is it true that some kids behave well because of their parents?

Yes, I believe parents are mostly responsible for their children's behaviour. However, they are not only in charge of their children's behaviour; other elements like the media, their friends, and their teachers also have a role.

Q3. Is learning new things vital for adults?

Yes, I agree that if people stopped learning, life would become dull. Additionally, adapting to the quick changes nowadays requires learning new survival skills. My mom works in education. She was forced to learn and teach using Zoom during difficult times when traditional classroom instruction was not an option. She would have lost her job if she hadn't.

Q4. How can one go about learning new things?

There are conventional ways to learn new things, such as enrolling in evening classes, contacting a friend or relative for advice, or reading how-to books. Then there are the more recent techniques, like browsing Google or watching YouTube channels. The time to learn a new skill has never been better than it is right now.

Describe something (painting, sculpture, jewellery, furniture) you find beautiful

- Where the artwork/ object is?
  - How was it made?
  - What it shows/look like?
-
- Many different types of furniture in my home have been there for a long time and serve various functions.
  - But now I want to talk about a piece of furniture that I think is lovely and quite new.
  - I'm referring to a sizable computer desk that my family recently purchased from a well-known chain furniture retailer in my nation.
  - Although it was mainly purchased to serve as the family's computer desk, we now use it for almost everything, from having our afternoon snacks to ironing our clothes.
  - Not to mention that the L-shaped desk is spacious enough to hold some of our home's most attractive flower pots in addition to our enormous, old desktop.

- To give a more detailed description of the computer desk, it is a brownish wooden (from an oak tree) desk with perfectly well-rounded corners.
- Its edges are quite curved, giving the desk a rather contemporary appearance.
- Additionally, it is wide and deep, giving us plenty of space for other activities besides placing a computer, as I have previously said above.
- By the way, even though the desk was originally rather expensive and could be easily disassembled and reassembled, my family got it at a reduced cost.
- The desk only cost us a little over $200 US.
- It also came with some gorgeously crafted metal legs in case we ever needed to use them.
- This furniture is lovely, especially because it has a brand-new appearance and is quite glossy.
- Additionally, the particular piece of furniture makes the room attractive by blending in flawlessly and naturally with the other furniture and accessories in the space.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Do you believe that the world is more beautiful today than it was in the past?

Personally, I find the beauty of traditional sculptures and paintings to be far greater. Finding patrons in the form of monarchs and nobility was, in my opinion, easier in the past, allowing artists to focus on their work without having to worry about funding. Today, nevertheless, it is considerably more difficult to support oneself as an artist. That is also reflected in the art being created now; it is done more as a pastime than as a job, and the works created are significantly less advanced than those of the past.

Q2. Do you believe there are more beautiful places to visit outside of India or vice versa?

India, in my opinion, is one of the most diversified nations. Mountains, rivers, deserts, and beaches are all present. Furthermore, it has one of the most extensive cultural histories. In this aspect, I believe it is difficult to defeat India.

However, many attractive locations in India cannot compare to the pristine and undisturbed beauty found in some of the rich European and American countries because India is also one of the most populous and polluted nations in the world.

Describe a hard thing you did and succeeded

What was it?

How did you complete it?

Why was it difficult?

And how you felt about doing it?

- Since I'm creative, I usually strive to study or do something new as part of my everyday routine.
- Learning something new is quite challenging for me, but with time and repetition, I eventually get used to new work first, but with time, I get used to new work that may be fairly challenging.
- Here, I want to share a successful instance of me undertaking a challenging task.
- In reality, what was challenging was operating a vehicle in a city where a sizable audience could be seen.
- I still remember getting driving lessons from my father last year over my summer break because he is a talented driver.
- So I could drive a car around my hometown in a few days.

- However, I have never operated a vehicle in a city since I believed it would not be easy to operate in a congested region.
- My grandmother's position was pretty dire, while my father wasn't home because she was a patient with high blood pressure, as I recall.
- I was feeling down at the time because I didn't know much about driving, and it was difficult for me to carry her to the hospital on my two-wheeler because she was weak from age.
- Therefore, I had to operate a vehicle to transport her to the hospital.
- That was the first time I had driven a car in a city and just saved my grandmother's life. Sincerity is damned; my father was incredibly proud of me and loved what I did.
- Despite the tragic circumstances, I came out on top since I saved my grandmother's life and overcame my anxiety about operating a vehicle in a crowded environment.
- I'm now comfortable driving a car in difficult terrain as well.
- Overall, this was the challenging thing I completed and was successful at.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What professions call for self-assurance?

While confidence is necessary for all vocations, it is more important for customer service jobs. For instance, a salesperson who lacks confidence would find it difficult to persuade customers to buy the goods they are attempting to offer.

Q2. When should parents encourage their kids? How?

When kids are afraid to do something good for them, I believe they should be encouraged to do it. However, encouragement should only be given to a point; they shouldn't feel it's being forced upon them. For instance, if kids are interested in painting, we might push them to learn how to do it. Parents can also take their children to a museum to further spark their interest in learning.

Q3. How do you keep kids' attention?

There are numerous ways to assist children. First, one can provide a distraction-free environment for kids to learn, such as forbidding cell phone use while studying. Teaching them about meditation, in which they must concentrate on their breath or a single sound, would be another technique to assist them in focusing.

Q4. What difficulties do today's youth face?

There are, in my opinion, primarily two difficulties that young people nowadays must overcome. The first one has to do with the mind and mental health; today, everyone is aware of the rise in cases of young depression and suicide. They also have to contend with the rising competitiveness in their fields of study or employment.

Describe an English lesson or class you enjoyed a lot

- What was taught in the class?
  - When did you take the class?
  - Where was it?
  - What did the teacher do that made you enjoy it?
-
- Being poor in English throughout my school period, my poor English language proficiency during my school period.
  - I had to take a few English classes. As a result, to get better at the language.
  - Few of the lessons I have heard have been particularly uninteresting, except one thrilling class I loved attending.
  - I'd want to talk about my experience in this class, which was fun.
  - The majority of the lesson dealt with English grammar. However, this class was unique since it placed more emphasis on complex grammar than on simple grammar.

- The fact that I learned about advanced grammar for the first time in this class—I had no idea what it was before—made it even more astonishing.
- I recall taking this subject in high school quite vividly. At the time, I had only just entered 12th grade.
- Mr Baldev delivered this course. He excitedly teaches the most difficult ideas because he is an expert in language teaching.
- I picked up a tonne of new skills in this class. I learned many useful strategies for enhancing grammar under the direction of my English tutor.
- He also talked about articles, connecting verbs, and adverbs, among other grammar-related concepts.
- I'll be completely honest—I liked this class. My interest in this course is motivated, too.
- Students typically find grammar instruction to be tedious. A 10-minute class can make a pupil feel tired. But in this session, everyone—including me—was excited and engaged with the subject material.

- I have to admit that Mr Baldev's teaching approach was fascinating.
- This was all about an enjoyable English lesson, then.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What advantages do studying a foreign language offer?

Learning a foreign language has a lot of advantages. First and most importantly, it benefits pupils intellectually because the abilities they acquire in one language—such as comprehension and identifying a paragraph's core idea—can be transferred to the other. Second, it creates additional potential future opportunities. For instance, it may enable students to pursue higher education abroad. The same is true for finding employment in a business with overseas clients.

Q2. What advantages can foreign language teachers enjoy?

Improving one's language skills is the main advantage of teaching another language. Teaching the language is a far better way for individuals to learn it than studying it.

Second, those who speak other languages typically earn more money and may have more possibilities to travel.

The age diversity in the language lessons, in my opinion, is the greatest. I've witnessed seniors as old as 70 studying German and French.

Therefore, teaching a foreign language never gets dull because students are exposed to various people.

Q3. Will computers eventually take the role of foreign language instructors?

Computers, in my opinion, are undoubtedly helpful for pupils learning a foreign language. I do not believe that computers can entirely replace language teachers, nevertheless. Students who use computers can work on their grammar and pronunciation, but they cannot create or communicate ideas. Additionally, a language has cultural components that, in my opinion, can only be taught by a teacher.

Q4. Is learning a foreign language more difficult because of grammar?

No, I don't believe grammar is the most challenging aspect because there are grammar rules. I believe it to be rational; thus, it can be learned with practice.

However, I feel that there are no set norms for pronunciation. Thus it can be very challenging.

Q5. Do you believe that grammar is essential when learning a language?

Yes, I agree that grammar is essential for learning a language. Incorrect grammar can cause confusion and embarrassment by giving the sentence a different meaning.

For instance, the words I taught and I was taught signify entirely different things, and the mere inclusion of was in the middle significantly alters the meaning.

Describe a character from a movie

- Who is this character?
- When did you watch the movie?
- What was the character?
- People love a wide range of movie genres, including action, thriller, comedy, historical, mythology, and fiction.
- Movies have long been a significant source of entertainment for the general public.
- Since documentaries offer essential information in both aural and visual formats, many students live to watch movies, which are also excellent educational resources.
- Here, I will discuss a great character from my favourite film, Munna Bhai MBBS.
- The Circuit is the name of the wonderful persona that Arshad Warsi portrays. He has a funny goonish quality to him.
- Unbelievable synergy exists between Sanjay Dutt and Arshad Warsi.
- When I was in elementary school, I watched this movie and enjoyed it.

- It was a box office success at the time and received numerous honours for that film. When new movies were released every Friday, my friend and I went to the movies.
- I enjoyed seeing movies, and while living in a hostel, I watched every movie at a nearby single-screen theatre.
- The character plays a supporting part, with Sanjay Dutt and Arshad Warsi taking on the lead roles.
- I adored Circuit's acting. He is incredibly hilarious and always there for his pal. He assists him without grumbling.
- His delivery of the dialogue is outstanding. The audience is drawn in by the speaker's distinctive walking and talking style.
- He always brings a smile to my face.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Is acting enjoyable?

I don't think becoming an actor is enjoyable since, at the start of their careers, performers must remember lines, go through auditions, and encounter rejection. Being a successful actor requires much effort, commitment, and good fortune, just like any other profession. However, once you achieve fame and fortune, it is a fulfilling career.

Q2. What lessons can kids pick up through acting?

I believe acting is a great way for kids to learn. It boosts their self-esteem, teaches kids how to collaborate, sharpens their public speaking and creative skills, and can be a lot of fun.

Describe a course or study that you want to do in the future

- What course is it (or would be)?
  - Where would you do it?
  - What would you learn in that course?
  - Explain why you would like to do this course.
-
- Since learning is a continuous process, we continuously evaluate information in light of our understanding.
  - I think enrolling in classes, whether online or off, is the best way to understand a subject thoroughly.
  - Digital marketing is a course I'd like to pursue in the future.
  - This course would be my primary area of study, and I would like to pursue it at NMIMS.
  - This private institution has campuses in Hyderabad, Bangalore, and Indore, in addition to its location in Mumbai.
  - My profile would need to be worked on diligently for this course.

- Therefore, if I were to get accepted, I would have to put in more effort to succeed in line with the university's expectations.
- I want to emphasize consumer behaviour throughout the course.
- A wide range of businesses is coming online with a focus on social media in light of the global digital transformation that is currently taking place.
- I want to learn more about social media and digital marketing to use what I learn to better my profession.
- There are many reasons why I lean toward taking this course.
- I'll start by saying that I'm incredibly fascinated by the world of advertising.
- And last, as long as people continue to live with a capitalist perspective, this course cannot be ignored.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Should science and the arts be taught in schools?

Without a doubt, both areas are significant in life. The arts are significant for amusement, and the sciences are significant for innovation. Without new technologies and many artistic forms, life would be dull. Since it is also our responsibility to preserve culture, arts and science should be treated equally in the classroom.

Q2. What types of courses are beneficial for college students?

Professional courses that support one's career development at the university are helpful. Most individuals attend college merely to expand their knowledge and proficiency in the fields in which they are interested. Children are frequently interested in science, technology, robotics, architecture, and medicine.

Q3. Why do some students detest doing their homework in class?

Some pupils have little interest in studies and prefer to explore and hang out with friends. Academics do not appeal to everyone; some are more interested in sports and extracurricular activities.

Q4. What educational activities are beneficial for students?

A child's total development is impacted by all of the activities they participate in at school. Academics, athletics, art and craft activities, and debate competitions. This activity improves their total performance.

Describe a time when you enjoyed your spare time

- When it was
  - Where you were
  - What you did
  - How did you feel about it?
-
- Finding free time is difficult in the present era because of how hectic our lifestyle has become.
  - However, I make good use of my free time whenever I have it. Such a case merits mentioning in particular.
  - The authorities abruptly declared a strict lockdown two years ago because of the corona outbreak.
  - I visited my hometown to see my parents and grandparents right before the lockdown.
  - I spent four months in my hometown due to the corona pandemic.
  - I could make use of my time by doing things outside the realm of the usual because I did not have to attend college.

- First, I started cooking one delicious treat every day after learning how to do it from my grandma. I acquired the essential skill of cooking as a result.
- Additionally, I learned how to play the guitar online. I enrolled in a YouTube online course and began practising for two hours daily.
- Although challenging, I persisted with tenacity, devotion, and discipline and managed to master the guitar in one month.
- I played my guitar to his favourite song on his 75th birthday.
- In addition, my father taught me how to cultivate. It assisted me in developing a kitchen garden in our front yard.
- Through this activity, I learned more about fruits and veggies.
- I had a life-changing event throughout those four months. My attendance was on what I enjoy doing rather than on the necessities of contemporary society in terms of life, profession, money, and education.
- The wonderful time I spent in my village back then will always be etched in my memory.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What do people in your nation enjoy doing in their spare time?

People enjoy playing both online and offline games and browsing the internet. Chat with pals while listening to music. They occasionally enjoy taking long drives with their loved ones. People enjoy reading, watching movies, and watching television in their spare time.

Q2. Should parents create plans for their kids, in your opinion?

Yes, when youngsters are young and unable to organize their time, they should seek parental assistance. However, planning should be done independently after they reach adulthood.

Q3. Do you believe that most people are competent time managers?

No, not everyone can make productive use of their free time. People enjoy relaxing and engaging in leisure activities when they have free time. Some slackers only want to sleep and enjoy their idleness.

Q4. What are the differences between what individuals used to do in their free time and what they do now?

In the past, people engaged in various activities, such as gardening, planting trees, and caring for pets and other animals. They enjoy playing outdoor games, but today's culture supports spending the majority of time on social media platforms viewing movies and playing video games, making people lazier.

CourseMentor
START YOUR JOURNEY TO STUDY ABROAD

Describe a part or room in your home where you feel relaxed

- In which area/room do you feel relaxed?
  - Why do you feel relaxed there?
  - What do you do to feel relaxed?
-
- Unquestionably, life is getting more and more difficult every day.
  - Therefore, I believe that unwinding is crucial to our lives.
  - Different people take different actions to unwind.
  - Every morning I like to do yoga to unwind.
  - I do this on the tiny balcony that is connected to my room.
  - I do this for a variety of reasons. First of all, there are many trees nearby.
  - Additionally, I do it early in the day, so I can hear the birds singing.
  - As a result, I experience a connection to nature.
  - It is quite soothing. Second, yoga itself is the most effective way to unwind.

- All three together have a calming influence on our minds.
- We seem to be revitalized and invigorated.
- Meditation and controlled breathing can both help you quiet your mind.
- Thinking about nothing is a lovely feeling.
- Finally, I painted the balcony and added some handmade decorations.
- Every time I spend time there, I have the impression that I can see the results of my labour.
- It consequently gives me the impression that I can accomplish everything I set my mind to.
- I occasionally sit down with a hot tea and read the paper.
- I feel my concentration is much better on the balcony.
- For all of these reasons, I consider my room's balcony to be the ideal spot in my home to unwind.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Do you believe that exercise is necessary for physical and mental health?

Without a doubt, exercise is directly related to physical wellness. With our sedentary lifestyles nowadays, staying healthy without exercise is all but impossible. Similarly, exercising makes us feel better about how we look and makes us much more pleasant, both of which benefit people's mental health.

Q2. Why do people experience constant stress?

In my opinion, the rise in stress in our lives has numerous causes. One is the diminishing job security brought on by the increased competition. Therefore, stress over work and employment is a constant for people. Second, individuals today have extremely high expectations. We are destined to experience tension when we have unrealistic expectations. Speaking with friends can also help relieve stress, although this is becoming less and less common as people isolate themselves more and more. People always feel anxious as a result.

Q3. Do you believe there should be classes to teach kids and teenagers how to relax?

Yes, I agree that it is necessary for this day and age. We must teach young people how to manage stress, as evidenced by the rising rates of mental health problems and depression among teenagers. I believe it might be accomplished by implementing relaxation programmes within the school. Furthermore, if they develop coping mechanisms for stress at an early age, they will be far better able to do so as adults.

CounselorNet.com
START YOUR JOURNEY TO STUDY SUCCESS

Describe a person you met the first time and enjoyed a conversation with

- Who was the person?
  - What topics did you discuss?
  - How did you feel?
-
- Not bad, lending. When a friend or member of the family needs anything temporarily, they lend them their possessions.
  - Sometimes in need, we must assist others and provide them with the tools, cash, or automobiles they require.
  - This strengthens the tie and keeps relationships alive.
  - Here, I'll describe when I lent a friend my laptop, a renowned graphic artist.
  - He was working on a crucial project when his laptop malfunctioned, necessitating an urgent call for assistance.
  - He came to me and asked for my assistance because I live close by and we have fun together on the weekends.

- DHe asked me to lend him my laptop for two days while he sent his computer to the repair shop because he knew I had a high-end laptop and wanted a device that could effectively handle images and graphics of the highest calibre.
- It would take a few days to receive the replacement parts they need.
- It was the weekend, and I was aware of his predicament.
- I handed him my computer without thinking twice because I didn't need it.
- He is a close friend who uses his tremendous abilities to help others, so I felt good.
- I also assisted him in his trying circumstance.
- I believe that friends should support one another when they are in need.
- Of course, I will. He is a tech expert and is well-versed in it. He looks after everything well.
- I always ask for his assistance when I need it, and he never turns me down.
- And this is how friendship and community function. A friend in need is truly a friend.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. In what situations do you meet new individuals, and when do you interact with strangers?

We meet people while travelling, shopping, attending seminars, conferences, corporate events, and many more occasions like religious and spiritual gatherings. On these occasions, I have the opportunity to get to know a variety of people, and I enjoy telling them about my experiences and learning their perspectives on various issues.

Q2. What subjects do you talk about with new people?

I enjoy talking to people on many subjects, including their perspectives on politics, the economy, finance, and way of life. Along with discussing sports and technology, my favourite things to discuss with new people are vehicles and travel. I get along well with individuals who share my interests.

Q3. What subjects should not be brought forward for discussion?

Therefore, subjects like discrimination, people's faith and personal lives, and themes like religious beliefs and crimes perpetrated by other groups are not appropriate for debate. Some people find it uncomfortable to express their opinions on such issues.

Q4. What makes conversing with friends different from chatting with strangers?

When speaking with friends, a conversation is more candid and in-depth. There are no restrictions on what can be spoken, and there is no bias or concern about criticism. When speaking with strangers, we should be formal and courteous. Fast proximity is not always a good thing.

Describe a time when you had to lend something to a person you know

- What you lent.- When it happened?
- Why did he/she asked to borrow the item?
- Explain how you felt about this.
- Would you let him borrow it again in the future?
-
- Not bad, lending. When a friend or member of the family needs anything temporarily, they lend them their possessions.
- Sometimes in need, we must assist others and provide them with the tools, cash, or automobiles they require.
- This strengthens the tie and keeps relationships alive.
- Here, I'll describe when I lent a friend my laptop, a renowned graphic artist.
- He was working on a crucial project when his laptop malfunctioned, necessitating an urgent call for assistance.
- He came to me and asked for my assistance because I live close by and we have fun together on the weekends.

- He asked me to lend him my laptop for two days while he sent his computer to the repair shop because he knew I had a high-end laptop and wanted a device that could effectively handle images and graphics of the highest calibre.
- It would take a few days to receive the replacement parts they need.
- It was the weekend, and I was aware of his predicament.
- I handed him my computer without thinking twice because I didn't need it.
- He is a close friend who uses his tremendous abilities to help others, so I felt good.
- I also assisted him in his trying circumstance.
- I believe that friends should support one another when they are in need.
- Of course, I will. He is a tech expert and is well-versed in it. He looks after everything well.
- I always ask for his assistance when I need it, and he never turns me down.
- And this is how friendship and community function. A friend in need is truly a friend.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What do you think of those who share details of their private lives on social media?

Since people have free will, they can do as they like. People should, in my opinion, exercise caution while handling sensitive information. If people share it, it can affect their daily lives. Otherwise, there are numerous situations where people have been negatively impacted by sharing personal information on social media.

Q2. What do you think of internet sharing of research documents?

Sharing documents linked to research is acceptable. Whatever one has accomplished is theirs, and other people can be inspired and encouraged to conduct the related study due to this content, which can benefit peers in various ways.

Q3. Do you believe that kids should share their possessions?

They should share the things that help them to be tolerant and kind, without a doubt. They should share things, and we should encourage them to do so since it strengthens the bonds between their buddies.

Q4. Why are kids reluctant to share their possessions, such as toys?

They do not enjoy sharing their toys with others since they are emotionally attached to them and do not want others to have them.

Q5. How can parents encourage their kids to share?

By encouraging them to share with their siblings and cousins, parents can inspire their children to do so. These activities help them to grow in compassion and tolerance. Along with maintaining positive relationships with their neighbours and encouraging their kids, parents should serve as role models for their children.

Describe a development in your area or hometown

- What development is it?
  - Where is it located?
  - What are its features and benefits?
-
- My city is no different from other modern cities because they always evolve.
  - The locals have access to various facilities, but they were without a theater for a while because one of the facilities was unavailable. However, after a year of work, it was finally opened to the public.
  - I've been there as well, and I must say it's a fantastic location with many things people can do there. Before the mall opened, it was necessary to force people to travel to the nearby big city for their shopping.
  - They can now easily visit this mall in their city to buy anything, especially when it comes to name brands. Thus, it was a complete waste of time.

- In addition to offering the widest variety of brands and allowing customers to complete their shopping under one roof, this mall has become a popular entertainment destination.
- First, there are movie theatres where people view the newest releases with their friends and family. There are also game arcades and kid-friendly play areas nearby, making it a great weekend destination for families.
- Another benefit of this shopping centre is the food court on the top floor, which offers all the brands, including American restaurants like McDonald's.
- Domino's offers pizza, and KFC offers fried chicken, both of which were not previously available in my city before the opening of this mall.
- I frequently visit this place on the weekends with friends and family, and we have a great time.

- The nicest aspect is that these retail malls are always climate-controlled, so you always have a wonderful shopping experience.
- There are also escalators and elevators for older adults, making it incredibly accessible.
- Overall, I would say that is a recent development in my town, and I'm happy to have a shopping centre there today.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Describe the changes that have occurred in your nation throughout the years.

The development between the present and earlier eras is very different. Technology wasn't fully developed in the past.

Therefore, there wasn't much advancement in the past, but with the rise of technology, all has changed.

Q2. What kinds of changes are taking place in your nation now?

In every field, there have been developments.

Airports, bus stops, train stations, shopping centres, four-lane roads, and underground transportation facilities of a new kind. Additionally, every industry has been computerised, and everything is now online. This event profoundly altered how the globe looked.

Q3. Are you a resident of a developed or developing nation?

I reside in a developing nation. I come from India, a country with a rapidly growing economy. It was a huge success in every area compared to the previous. My nation gains nuclear capability and overtakes the world's superpowers.

Describe when you got something from someone that you wanted

- Who gave it to you
  - What was the thing
  - When you receive it
  - Why you needed it?
  - How did you felt about it?
-
- I've never asked for anything in my life, but there have been times when individuals gave me things which made me incredibly happy.
  - Today I want to tell about one such instance when someone gave me something I would buy for myself.
  - My brother, an engineer who works in Canada, presented it to me.
  - My brother is a kindhearted individual who loves me dearly.
  - He gave me the newest iPhone X, and I was utterly shocked (hugely startled) to learn that he had purchased it specifically for me.
  - I had been saving for this phone for several months, but I still lacked the funds to purchase it.

- I also read numerous reviews about this phone and watched numerous videos about it on YouTube.
- It has many great features, including wireless charging, face recognition, and dual cameras.
- When my brother came to stay with us the last winter, he observed me conducting extensive online research on this phone.
- He was aware of my strong desire for this phone.
- So without telling me, he purchased this phone for me.
- He surprised me with this phone for Christmas.
- The phone was in a sock beside my bed when I woke up on Christmas morning.
- At first, I wasn't sure if it was real or a dream, but when everyone began praising me, I was overcome with joy.
- I gave my brother a hearty thank you and referred to him as my Santa Claus.
- So this was when I felt the most happiness after getting something I wanted.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What is the connection between shopping and the national economy?

Shopping helps the economy, and as the economy grows, more people shop. Therefore, both are dependent on one another.

Q2. What products do young people prefer to purchase?

Young people enjoy purchasing apparel, footwear, electronics, and other goods.

Q3. How do your buddies affect your purchasing decisions?

My friends recommend items for me to buy. My buddies have strong brand loyalty. They, therefore, keep an eye out for different offers from various branded stores. For instance, there was recently a discount on Levis's jeans. Free two pairs of jeans with the purchase of one. So, we paid Rs 3000 for one and received two for free. Each person merely had to pay $1000 for a pair of Levis's jeans.

Q4. How significant is consumption to a nation?

Consumption is crucial for a nation's economy to advance and thrive. Consumption results in client demand, which triggers mass production, creates jobs and boosts the profitability of any enterprise. Overconsumption, however, can be harmful since it promotes a consumerist and materialistic society. Additionally, it harms the ecosystem. Therefore, people should limit their consumption of consumer items to avoid the negative effects indicated above or a throwaway culture.

Q5. What should parents do if their kids beg for items that their friends have?

Children should be taught the distinction between necessities and desires by their parents. To help kids become more responsible and prevent them from making demands on their parents based only on peer pressure, parents should be open and honest about their affordability and financial constraints.

Talk about a time you complained about something and got a good result, at last,

- What did you complain about
- Who you complained to
- When it happened
- What was the result, and why were you satisfied with the result?

- I'm not the type of person who likes to moan a lot.
- But when something isn't done correctly, I believe it's my responsibility to fix it because by making a fuss, I can ensure that it won't happen again.
- I want to discuss a circumstance where I complained about service and eventually got it fixed today.
- Last month, I had to obtain my bank account statement to apply for my visa.
- The officer informed me that the bank's printer was broken when I arrived in the morning.
- He requested I return the next day.
- The following day, when I went to the bank, he gave me the same explanation again.

- I asked them to fix it because I needed it immediately, but the bank personnel did not seem concerned.
- I decided to complain to the higher-ups as a result.
- I returned home, accessed the bank's website, and emailed its administration at their main office.
- They called me back immediately and promised to take serious measures in response to my complaint.
- I said, "thank you", and returned to the bank.
- I was surprised to see the manager approach me with my account statement as soon as I walked into the bank.
- After I complained, they fixed the printer right away.
- I learned that this problem was also causing a great deal of other people's suffering.
- The manager asked me to withdraw my complaint after being warned by higher management for not paying attention to the customers, but I refused to comply.

- I informed him that he must attend to consumers' needs and hear their complaints.
- He then expressed regret and pledged to take extra care of it.
- So this was one instance where I complained about something and received an excellent outcome.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. When do people typically voice complaints?

People typically voice their complaints when they have experienced an inconvenience or suffering. When someone has tricked or fooled them, that is the other key reason why people complain. There are a lot of folks that might complain unfairly because they have a whiny attitude.

Q2. Is whining a solution to problems?

Yes, there are numerous situations where complaining is beneficial in resolving issues. For instance, contacting customer service or assistance after a product, appliance, or device breaks down, or malfunctions can help resolve the issue. When someone is deceived or defrauded, it is quite likely that they will receive justice if they report it to the authorities.

Q3. What additional steps should you take instead of complaining about issues?

There are instances when grumbling is not the best course of action. For instance, people breaking traffic laws is a major cause of traffic issues in many cities. However, talking about it won't make it go away; instead, individual actions and initiatives might assist in resolving such problems.

Q4. What sort of individuals complain?

When they do not get what they are promised or entitled to, people aware of their rights and entitlements protest. However, some individuals who complain might have no good or convincing explanation. These people frequently lack awareness and refuse to accept responsibility for their actions.

Q5. Do you frequently become irritated?

No, I don't get furious very often. But sometimes, I get irritated, like when I witness someone speaking or doing something unacceptable. I get upset when I read or watch the news about crimes, corruption, terrorist attacks, and the deaths of innocent people.

Describe an achievement/success you are proud of

- What did you do?
- When did you do it?
- How did you feel about it?
- Why did that achievement make you proud?
- Every time someone does something, they are quite proud of it.
- What appears straightforward to one person may be an accomplishment to another.
- For me, getting over my glossophobia was a challenging task.
- I used to be quite shy on stage and could not talk in front of people.
- It so happened that I once took part in a local environmental expo.
- Four students made up our group: Mohit, Rohan, Ravi, and I.
- We had to create a pollution model.

- It was challenging to develop ideas for the model, but Mrs Promilla, our instructor, assisted us.
- We gathered all the information from many sources, including the internet, libraries, periodicals, and more.
- On thermocol, we displayed all three types of pollution: noise, water, and air.
- We demonstrated the sources, impacts, and mitigation strategies of pollution in this project.
- In our model, we had to speak turn-wise.
- I recall that I was terrified to speak.
- But the confidence came from my other buddies. Being a member of the squad made me feel fantastic.
- I was effective when I spoke.
- For me, overcoming my glossophobia was a success.
- After that, I felt great.
- In this tournament, we took home the top honour.

- The judges made a point of mentioning that the vocal explanation of the model was largely responsible for winning first place.
- I will always recall that day.
- That day, the four of us were ecstatic.
- So, I was happy with this accomplishment.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. How do you gauge someone's success?

Academic and professional achievement can be gauged in various ways. We can consider someone successful if they succeed in getting good grades, landing a decent job, or becoming a successful business person.

Q2. Do you believe that people now achieve success in different ways?

The way individuals succeed nowadays has changed. To succeed, people must compete in a variety of sectors.

By reaching more people and assisting them, technology is also assisting them in achieving their objectives.

Q3. What does success mean to you?

Success is a term I use loosely. The first is having a happy family and feeling satisfied with oneself. I consider someone successful when their basic requirements are met and their health is excellent. Sometimes helping others and our communities also makes us feel as accomplished as ourselves.

Q4. How can successful people be rewarded?

By wishing them well and presenting them with diplomas and incentives, we can thank people in various ways. By congratulating them on their achievement, we may also recognise and appreciate their efforts. They are delighted by this.

Q5. What was the hardest thing you've ever accomplished?

I've accomplished a lot of challenging tasks, including learning new talents, succeeding in competitive tests, dominating in sports, and saving a life during epidemic crises. I've accomplished some challenging things like these.

Describe an unusual meal that you had

- Who were you with
  - Where you went
  - When it happened
  - Why was it unusual
-
- My family typically eats dinner together at home with straightforward and conventional dishes, but on one occasion, we shared an extraordinary meal in a posh restaurant.
  - I was consumed with revision for my final exam about three years ago.
  - After that stressful period, I aced the exam with flying colours, so my father took the entire family to a Western restaurant for a hearty supper to calm my mind.
  - My mother and I were startled at the time because that dinner was a little out of the ordinary for my family. After all, we had never eaten in such a fancy restaurant.

- In the heart of Ho Chi Minh City, there is a French eatery. This restaurant gets hundreds of customers each night because it is located in a popular region.
- As a result, the food wasn't particularly affordable. My family spent a fortune on it, which made this supper all the more memorable for me.
- As a reward for my hard work, my dad was willing to take my mum and me to such a restaurant even though he is not the type of person who makes a killing.
- I was quite grateful to him for doing that.
- I thoroughly enjoyed this meal because it allowed me to unwind after a long hard work and reduce daily tension.
- Because we've all been so busy for a while, this unconventional supper was also a great opportunity to improve our family ties.
- I'll work hard to make a lot of money in the future to take my family to lovely locations like this and introduce them to diverse cuisines and delectable delicacies like lobster, abalone, and salmon.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Why do individuals buy food from other countries?

In today's modern society, individuals are too preoccupied with their jobs to prepare meals at home; instead, they prefer to prepare them already from outside. Additionally, they adhere to western culture and enjoy purchasing a wide range of fast foods from the market.

Q2. Why are there food shortages for people?

Offer a resolution.

The answer is that there is severe food scarcity in my nation. It has a few causes. The primary cause is that society has lost sight of the significance of food. Instead of donating food to the hungry and needy, a lot is wasted at events and parties. The key to a solution is for people to appreciate the value of food and use it appropriately.

Q3. Having dinner at home is a nice idea, in your opinion?

A family supper at home is unquestionably a fantastic idea. Because everyone would have the opportunity to meet in one location, the family bonding would be strong due to this. Along with enjoying the cuisine, people would talk about their issues and joys with one another. They could live as a unit, and loneliness would be eliminated.

Describe a period of history you want to know more about

- What period do you want to know about?
- Why do you want to know about it?
- How do you think you can know about it?

- History has never truly caught my attention.
- However, several historical eras have always intrigued me, and I would like to learn more about them.
- The Indus Valley era is one such period.
- I recently watched the movie Mohenjo Daro, which describes how people lived back then.
- I first learned about the historical period from a school history book. A tour of the National Museum in New Delhi, which houses numerous seals and pots from that period, was also organized by my school.
- I also observed the Indus Valley Architecture blueprints.
- The people of the Indus Valley were far ahead of their time. They existed between 2600 and 1900 BC in cities with walls.

- Numerous structures, including baths, bead manufacturers, and granaries, have been discovered at their ruins.
- The fact that the inhabitants of the Indus Valley still reside in burned-brick homes is intriguing.
- Right angles formed when the streets intersected. Drains existed and could be cleaned.
- There were no places of religion; instead, people worshipped the elements of nature, such as air and water.
- There are still a lot of unanswered questions regarding this period.
- The script has not yet been interpreted.
- The reason for the civilization's collapse is a mystery.
- According to several academics, a significant earthquake occurred.
- Some claim that strangers attacked them.
- Others claim that they perished due to lengthy droughts and starvation brought on by deforestation.
- I occasionally dream of going back in time to solve all these mysteries.
- Therefore, this is the historical era that interests me the most.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Do you believe that today's youth are being exposed to too much history?

I don't believe so, no. Children don't seem particularly interested in the past, despite having more resources for learning about history today, like museums, the Internet, and movies.

Q2. Do you think that kids often lose interest in history because there are so many names, dates, and times to remember?

Yes, I agree because I also get nervous on dates. It gets monotonous when there are too many dates to keep straight. However, many people might start showing interest in history if it were taught through films and television series.

Q3. Do you agree with those who are opposed to the idea of learning from the past?

Yes, it is crucial to be knowledgeable about history. We learn about our past from history. We learn a lot from it. Every item has a past. Only because we were aware that we were once enslaved people can we enjoy the freedom we do now. History also teaches us to avoid making the same mistakes twice. We study the advancements humanity has seen over time.

Q4. Do you believe that knowing about the past is important? OR What can we infer about the past?

Yes, it is crucial to be knowledgeable about history. We learn about our past from history. We learn a lot from it. Every item has a past. Only because we were aware that we were once enslaved people can we enjoy the freedom we do now. History also teaches us to avoid making the same mistakes twice. We study the advancements humanity has seen over time.

Q5. Where can people find reliable historical data?

Books produced by renowned historians, museums, and art galleries are excellent sources of trustworthy historical information. Today, there are a lot of trustworthy websites that provide historical knowledge online.

Describe a piece of technology that you find difficult to use

- When did you get it?
  - What did you get it for?
  - How often do you use it?
  - How do you feel about it?
-
- Many things are now possible thanks to previously unthinkable technology.
  - But simplicity has also suffered as a result.
  - Today, I want to talk about a washing machine, which has many features but is also quite difficult to operate.
  - After our old one broke down, we opted to get a new washing machine.
  - I looked at various models online before settling on a Gen Z model from a well-known brand.
  - It featured 102 distinct washing settings for various clothing categories.
  - None of the competing models even came close.
  - I didn't consider whether I needed 102 modes when I bought them.

- Although there are 102 separate modes, the machine cannot contain 102 buttons.
- There are just 10 buttons that must be used to switch between and select the modes.
- I have a pretty hard time remembering which buttons to press.
- I have to push five buttons in a specific order to start the basic wash cycle.
- I must constantly pay great attention to the user manual for this.
- If I click the wrong button, I frequently have to start over.
- Using it causes headaches.
- Our maid used to operate the washing machine with ease in the past.
- She doesn't speak English, and the user manual is only in English. Therefore, this one is too complex for her to use.
- I regret acquiring this device a great deal.
- I have, nonetheless, also gained important knowledge. Not usually. More is better.
- I should consider my needs rather than what the technology offers when making purchases.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What products or technologies are people using today?

Technology is everywhere in our lives. In reality, we utilize technology from the moment we get up until we go to sleep. Examples include kitchen appliances, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, cellphones, laptops, vehicles, and so on.

Q2. Why do big businesses release new items so frequently?

I believe it to be a perpetual game of one-upmanship. Without actually considering what is vital, businesses are trying to cram in more features to outdo one another. For instance, some smartphones come equipped with more than ten cameras.

Talk about an interesting old person you met recently

- Who is he/she
  - Where do you meet him/her
  - explain it briefly.
-
- Well, I have interacted with many people, both young and old, during my life.
  - And now, I'd like to discuss an older man named Mr Mandeep Singh, whom I met a few months ago.
  - He is, in my opinion, an alluring and grounded individual. He has a 75-year-old age. I briefly explain about him.
  - My father's acquaintance visited India with his wife a little over two months ago while on summer vacation.
  - He stayed with me during the holidays. He was a former Australian police officer.
  - He would tell my father to go to the Golden Temple in Amritsar once a day and ask him to accompany him.
  - My father, however, did not have enough time to travel with Uncle Mandeep Singh.

- Then, Dad told me to accompany him. I, therefore, visited the Golden Temple.
- To get where we were going, we boarded a bus. Uncle filled me in on his life's exploits during the bus ride because he was a gallant officer who earned numerous honours and decorations while serving in the military.
- He informed me that he had joined the police in his early 20s simply out of courage.
- He busted a burglar by breaking into a teacher's locker when they were attempting to take money from the college's locker area. He engaged the robber in combat while calling 911.
- Police quickly arrived and apprehended that robber. Uncle received a bravery award from the prime minister and a letter of employment with the police due to this occurrence.
- Additionally, my uncle once engaged in combat with a terrorist who kidnapped some students from the school. He bravely arrested the scoundrel.

- Listening to his presentations made me increasingly interested in learning more about his remarkable life.
- Due to my uncle's enthralled conversation, I was unaware of this until we arrived in Amritsar.
- Overall, this trip strengthened my bond with my uncle, and I missed him. I enjoy seeing him repeatedly.
- So when I first met him, he was an older man.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Do you believe that older people and younger people can have similar interests?

Both age groups have diverse interests; young people tend to favour outside activities. For instance, outdoor sports and hobbies, biking, challenging new tasks, road racing, and many others. The elderly demographic also differs. Elders enjoy gentle things and choose soft things, yet they can have common interests in movies, television shows, interior hobbies, and cooking.

Q2. What abilities may the elderly impart to the young?

Older people have a wealth of life experience that they can share with younger people. Additionally, they provide knowledge of ancient history and ancient civilization. Additionally, they impart lessons about decency, integrity, and social and emotional growth. Development of speech and language, improved fine motor skills, and reduced loneliness.

Q3. What lessons can youth impart to their elders?

Young people today are incredibly intelligent and knowledgeable about new technology. The new generation instructs on the internet shopping, phone and electricity bills, music, movies, and television shows. Elderly folks learn about the country's difficulties and can share their knowledge with other family members due to these things, which helps to boost their confidence.

Q4. Why is it important for young people to respect their elders?

In response, respect is essential. Children cannot learn about the value of moral principles and other people without them. When we respect adults, they bless and do other things for us. Children need decent manners, vital for a successful career and future.

Describe a place where you would like to work or live for a short period

- Where would you like to live/work?
  - What do you want to do there?
  - When would you like to go there?
  - Why do you want to live there?
-
- I intend to pursue my higher education abroad.
  - Canada is the place I want to study abroad.
  - I want to work there for the duration of my stay.
  - Students can reportedly work part-time while attending classes there.
  - My friend studied business management at Humber College Canada.
  - He spoke extensively to me about the local educational system.
  - He has a part-time job at a pizzeria.
  - He is paid $10 Canadian per hour.
  - He can work 20 hours a week, but he can also vary how many hours he works each day.
  - He thus puts in five hours on Saturday, five on Sunday, and two hours each day throughout the week.

- His study is not disrupted in this way.
- He is doing a great job of controlling his operating costs.
- I'm going to follow him soon."
- He has pledged to assist me in getting a job there.
- The library is where I'd prefer to work.
- Part-time positions at the library fill up fairly quickly.
- If I can't land a position at the library, I want to work in a restaurant or a fast food establishment.
- I believe it would be an excellent opportunity to get to know the locals, meet new people, and make friends.
- Canada is a stunning nation.
- My acquaintance lives in Toronto and has informed me that he has travelled to many locations there.
- He informed me of Niagara Falls and the CN Tower.
- Therefore, I would like to spend some time living in Canada.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What professions are straightforward to obtain abroad?

Finding employment in restaurants, shopping centres, retail chains, etc., is simple in foreign nations. Numerous work opportunities are accessible, such as those for salespeople, cashiers, drivers, gardeners, housekeepers, etc.

Q2. Should young adults travel abroad to work?

For young people, working overseas is a wise choice. First, it boosts their self-assurance since when they work in a new country, they must adapt to a new setting with individuals from all cultures and backgrounds. They gain experience from working in different settings, enabling them to manage disagreements skillfully. Additionally, it allows them to increase their income, enabling them to guide their careers toward spectacular growth.

Q3. Would it be beneficial for them to travel to a foreign country even if they don't work there?

This belief that visiting a distant country enables us to gain knowledge and experience cannot be disputed. We encounter and interact with people from various backgrounds and cultures while travelling to various locations.

Q4. Are Indian parents supportive of their kids working abroad?

India is a developing country with few job opportunities. Moreover, there is less employment accessible because of the growing population. These factors have contributed to the growth of the trend of working abroad. Many Indian parents encourage their kids to leave the country for better opportunities abroad.

Q5. Which nation would you like to live in if you had the chance to do so?

I would choose to live in Japan if I could do so. I've heard a lot about Japanese culture, and I'd like to interact with the locals to look for inspiration to help me live a remarkable growth trajectory. Aside from this, Japan boasts a spotless environment that would help me lead a healthy existence. The salaries in Japan are also good, so I'll work hard and have a luxurious life there.

Describe something you taught to someone (friend, relative, or family member)

- What you taught him/her?
  - When was it?
  - How long was it for?
  - And explain how you felt about it.
-
- I appreciate instructing others and sharing my knowledge. I will talk about a time when I tutored a friend in math today.
  - It's been a while—roughly 10 years. I attended Kurukshetra University to complete my undergraduate studies.
  - The three disciplines represented in the course were computer science, science, and mathematics.
  - The subject of mathematics was difficult. Despite this, my math grades were great.
  - Sadly, Rohit, a close buddy of mine, scored poorly on his tests during the first semester.
  - Calculus and trigonometry's foundational concepts eluded him. He questioned my ability to assist him. I readily consented.

- In the evening, I began instructing him.
- Since Rohit didn't have a solid background in math, nothing seemed to advance at first.
- But his eagerness to learn kept us moving forward. We persisted in our efforts, and after working extremely hard for months, I could see an improvement in his level.
- I thoroughly enjoyed imparting my knowledge to Rohit. This assistance wasn't given out of duty but rather out of genuine friendship for him to feel more confident and advance his mathematics abilities.
- Teaching him was difficult for me because I was a student.
- I occasionally had to think of a fresh approach to help him comprehend the subject.
- He consistently gave 100%, and together we were able to pass all of the maths tests.
- We accomplished something together, and I will never regret lending a hand to a buddy in need.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. What skills may young people impart to the elderly?

Social media, Internet shopping, and new behaviours are just a few of the things that younger people may teach older people. It's possible that many elderly people are less accustomed to modern technology, including cell phones, tablets, and social media sites. They can learn from young people how to utilise these gadgets and apps and how to stay safe online.

Q2. Why do older persons struggle to pick up new skills?

A number of reasons, including physical or cognitive changes brought on by age or pre-existing diseases like dementia or Alzheimer's disease, might make it difficult for older people to learn new things. Because of these changes, it may be more challenging for older persons to remember and retain new knowledge. These changes may influence memory, attention, and processing speed.

Additionally, older folks could be less receptive to change or have a harder time adjusting to new technology.

Q3. Do you think showing is a better way than telling during education?

Yes, showing is often considered a more effective way of teaching than telling, as it allows individuals to see and experience something first-hand rather than just hearing about it. This can help to increase understanding, retention and engagement. This is why hands-on learning, visual aids and real-world examples are often used to supplement traditional teaching methods.

Q4. Do you believe that ongoing training is necessary for people to learn a subject?

People's talents in a given subject or sector can be maintained and improved by consistent training and practice. Regular exposure to new knowledge, skills, and problems helps keep the mind active and engaged and stops the decline of skills. Constant training can also aid in enhancing memory recall and the capacity to apply knowledge in a variety of contexts.

Describe a piece of good news you heard from others

- What it was
  - When you received this news.
  - How you received this news.
  - Why do you feel it was good news?
-
- When I get good news, I get goosebumps, and every time I hear something amazing, I start jumping for pleasure.
  - Sharing good news with our friends and family helps us to recognise accomplishments and success.
  - In my culture, giving out sweets, planning little get-togethers, and having parties are commonplace.
  - I'm going to discuss the fantastic news that my older brother, who completed his higher studies in the United States of America, gave me here.
  - The biggest news for our family was that he went there to study and ended up getting a job at Google, the biggest IT business in the world.

- I'm going to discuss the fantastic news that my older brother, who completed his higher studies in the United States of America, gave me here.
- The biggest news for our family was that he went there to study and ended up getting a job at Google, the biggest IT business in the world.
- When my brother contacted to inform me that he had successfully completed all rounds of the interview process and given an interview, I learned this information.
- He also has the letter of offer. Both of us were ecstatic, and I was eager to celebrate the good news.
- I, therefore, invited my entire family to dinner and shared the wonderful news with them.
- Our family considered it a success that this person had accomplished such heights.
- When my cousins heard this news, they were incredibly motivated.
- The fact that my brother had reached the peak of his academic and professional performance was fantastic news for the entire family.

- No one in my family has ever studied overseas and achieved this level of achievement.
- I was, therefore, ecstatic when I heard this news. I think this was fantastic news because my cousins and other relatives who are in school will be inspired to work and travel overseas and emulate him.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. How does good news get spread?

In some cultures, people celebrate good news by hosting a party and giving out sweets. Good evenings are marked by cooking traditional dishes.

Q2. How does current technology impact how information is delivered?

People utilise various social media platforms for interactions since modern technology has sped up communication, and this is the quickest way to connect with anyone, wherever in the globe.

Q3. At what times do people spread the good news?

When something extraordinary occurs, and someone succeeds in achieving their personal and professional goals, they spread the good news. They desire the presence of their loved ones in their delight. They impart happy news.

Q4. What types of positive news have you already received?

Many pieces of excellent news have come my way at various times. I've always told my friends and family about my accomplishments, whether they be in school or in my profession. To me, they are everything.

Q5. What sort of excellent news does the public enjoy hearing?

People enjoy hearing about successes in both the professional and personal spheres, such as the birth of a child, landing a dream job, and other good news. People are excited by this news in many different ways. They are constantly interested in learning about the news that will improve their personal and professional lives.

Describe a website which helped you to do something

- Which site is it?
  - How did you know about it?
  - How it helped.
  - Why do you visit it often?
-
- Here, I'll discuss a website that I find to be incredibly useful and frequent.
  - MakeMyTrip.com is the website. I enjoy travelling and discovering new locations.
  - I frequently travel for both business and pleasure, and this website is very helpful when I'm going somewhere new.
  - When my friends and I organised a group trip to Shimla, I learned about this website.
  - They instructed me to do a remote view of a few events, and I found this website.
  - It offered excellent vacation packages that covered practically all of a traveller's needs, including lodging, sightseeing, and transportation.
  - We agreed on the budget because it was even affordable.

- I have since travelled extensively and have always used MakeMyTrip for vacation planning.
- Every time I want to travel alone or with others, I go to this website.
- As far as I'm aware, it delivers exceptional customer service and lists the top hotels for every type of budget.
- I, therefore, check this page anytime I go or plan to.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Who uses the website in your family?

In my family, everyone uses this website whenever they require any travel-related information.

Q2. Can the internet assist kids with their academics?

Unquestionably, it is crucial to ensure that education is offered and accessible to everyone in the world without any discrimination. Additionally, the high-quality graphics, music, and visuals make online instruction more engaging. When education and amusement are combined, kids enjoy them.

Q3. Can the teacher be replaced by the internet?

In no way can a teacher assess a student's academic progress in real-time and provide comments. Only information that can adequately replace a teacher can be found on the Internet.

Q4. Will downloading free music or movies lead to issues?

Yes, an unidentified website may occasionally harm you by stealing your personal data from a machine and an internet account. Only download from trustworthy sources, please.

Q5. What drives people to utilize the internet?

People utilise the internet for a wide range of purposes, including socialising, entertainment, academics, health, and many others. It serves as a one-stop shop for all needs.

Describe a person who inspired you to do something interesting

- Who is the person?
  - For what was he/she inspired?
  - Why was he/she inspired?
  - How did you feel about it?
-
- Well, most individuals do require inspiration, and if they receive it from the right source at the right moment, they can achieve great things.
  - I would love to share a personal example where I was motivated by a friend.
  - My friend Karan, who I look up to greatly, recently motivated me to enrol in swimming lessons for a variety of reasons.
  - Let me start by stating that I am afraid of water.
  - I really can't go near lakes, rivers, or other bodies of water like beaches.

- My friend Karan, on the other hand, is a travel enthusiast who adores visiting locations near water, and every time he shows me his images of sailing on a boat, rafting on a river, or enjoying beach sports like scuba diving and snorkelling, it makes me want to visit such locations.
- In such situations, he always attempts to persuade me to go with him.
- Although I actually couldn't do it due to my hydrophobia, he inspired and encouraged me to enrol in swimming lessons at the local sports complex.
- He actually said that if I could learn to swim, I would never experience the anxiety again since I could save my life if I got into trouble.
- In addition, swimming is a life-saving skill, so I can save not only my own life but also that of others in need.
- I was not feeling active or fit for a while, which was another source of motivation.

- He claimed that it is the best thing to do, particularly during the summer, which is interesting.
- Swimming is one activity that can truly help us to get respite from the intense heat on hot summer days when we really don't feel like doing anything due to sweating.
- His lectures genuinely moved me, and he succeeded in persuading me to join the city's sports centre.
- I now have a strong understanding of how to swim, I no longer experience hydrophobia, and I can thank my friend for inspiring me.

Follow-up questions:

Q1. Who inspires kids the most?

In my opinion, the most effective early motivators for kids are their parents and instructors. Children naturally look up to them since they are role models for them. When they become older, kids start idolising actors and athletes, who can also inspire kids.

Q2. How can educators inspire students?

Children can be motivated by their teachers when they support them, acknowledge their efforts, establish attainable goals, and give them the freedom to be curious and problem-solve.

Q3. How does it vary from instructing children?

Without motivation, students will not learn efficiently, and academic performance cannot be improved by teaching alone. Unmotivated students might disrupt the entire class, but motivated students are more eager to participate in class.

Q4. What needs teens.0 to consume?

Teenagers frequently engage in risky behaviour because they want to be liked and valued by their friends. Parents may encourage kids to stay motivated and accomplish their goals by being supportive and spending time talking to them. Parents should appreciate their independence and keep an eye on them.

Describe a person with whom you would like to study or work

- Who That person is
  - How long do you know them
  - Why do you want to study or work with him
-
- One person I would like to study or work with is Mr Singh. He is my neighbour, and I have known him since my birth.
  - He is a renowned anthropologist and conservationist, who is best known for his groundbreaking research on chimpanzees in the wild.
  - He has spent over 60 years studying these primates, and his work has greatly advanced our understanding of animal behaviour and conservation.
  - I want to be an anthropologist, and by working with him, I will learn some essential skills that will be very helpful for me.
  - What I admire most about him is his dedication to work and passion for positively impacting the world.

- He is a brilliant scientist and a powerful advocate for animal rights and conservation.
- His tireless efforts to protect chimpanzees and their habitats have made him a role model and an inspiration to many.
- Working with him would be an incredible opportunity to learn from one of the most respected figures in anthropology and conservation.
- His wealth of knowledge and experience would be invaluable, and I am sure I would greatly benefit from the opportunity to collaborate with him on research projects.
- In addition to his scientific contributions, Mr Singh is recognized for his ability to communicate his findings to a wide range of audiences, making complex scientific concepts accessible to people of all ages.
- He has written many books and given speeches and lectures dedicated to protecting chimpanzees, their habitats, and their communities.

- Overall, Mr Singh is an inspiring and accomplished individual whose work has profoundly impacted our understanding of the natural world, and I would be honoured to have the opportunity to study or work with him.

Follow-up Questions:

Q1. What types of people do you prefer to work or study with?

Because I take my education and work extremely seriously, I prefer collaborating or learning with bright, helpful people. If I work with people like this, we can easily exchange knowledge and learn from one another. We can also understand one another without encountering any issues.

Q2. Do you believe that bosses and employees may be friends?

Yes, they can, but they are both aware of their limitations and understand that a friendship cannot interfere with their profession. They are discovering the boundaries between friendship and employment.

Q3. Do you prefer to learn alone or with other people?

There are times when I want to study by myself and moments when I like to study with others. I can manage both, but I only enjoy those who are passionate about learning new things.

Q4. Which do you like more, studying at home or elsewhere?

In addition to going to the library occasionally, I like to study at home. I believe studying at home is a better option because it is more comfortable.

When I sit by myself to read books or notes and understand them, I find the right atmosphere for studying there.

